Professional Lender paid LMI

We're all about home ownership and we understand deposits in rising markets mixed with high establishment costs stop a lot of eager eligible home owners. We're not interested in tying up friends and family's home with guarantor loans. We also understand not all borrowers are the same. For our professional products, we don't need genuine savings as long as the borrower meets the criteria. We are looking to back people who have studied hard and have great careers ahead of them.
